DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains a disclosure including claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Securement Species: Applicant must select one of the suture, flanges, adhesive or band. If selecting the suture, applicant must select one of the groove species set forth in the figures.

Refill Port Species: Applicant must select one of the species of refill ports described in the specification. The ports of figures 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, 18, 20, 23, each appear to represent different types of ports. It is noted that applicant discloses that there may be no refill port, but a self sealing wall material. Applicant may choose the self sealing wall, or any other re-fill port embodiment in the specification.

Sealing Base Species: Applicant must select one of grooved sealing base, normal sealing base, extended sealing base, sealing base extending internally into the reservoir.

Methods Used to hold contents inside reservoir Species: Applicant must select one of crossing band, strip, net, bridge, fenestrated membrane, internal flanges, or other species as described in the specification.

Therapeutic Agent Species: None (empty cavity), covalently bound to a carrier, non-covalently bound to a carrier, tablets, encapsulate drugs, packed compounds, compressed solids, liquid, gel.

Reservoir Species: Single reservoir, more than one reservoir including a reservoir wall.

Locating the Port Species: Applicant must select one of method of finding the port, visual, staining, radiopaque, magnetic resonance, computer tomography, ultrasound.

Pump Species: Applicant must select one of osmotic, iontophoretic, mechanical, gravity, infusion.

Structure Elements Species: Bioerodible or non-bioerodible.

Valve Species: Reflux, vent.

Applicant must select one species from each of the sets of species above.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse of the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Art Unit: 1615

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

A telephone call was made to Daniel B. Schein on September 19, 2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.
